MISSOURI PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The Missouri Public Service Commission during the fiscal year July 1, 1970-June 30, 1971 was again required to devote much of its efforts to the consideration of rate cases.

The Commission also issued two General Orders on the burial of electric lines and utility promotional practices that had a significant impact on the utilities and the consumer of utility services.

In addition to these activities and the disposal of more routine cases, the Commission sponsored the Regulatory Information Systems Conference, the first meeting of its kind for persons from throughout the United States who are interested in the use of the computer in regulation.

There were a total of 51 public utility rate proceedings before the Commission during the fiscal year, a 66 per cent increase over the total for the previous year of 34 and a 100 per cent increase over the 1968-1969 fiscal year.

The dramatic rise in the number of rate cases is attributable to the effects of inflation on the economy, and the resultant impact of higher costs of labor, materials, capital and fuel on the utilities.

Whether there will be greater or fewer rate cases in the future depends primarily on the effects of these factors on the expansion programs of utilities. There were some indications at the end of 1971 that the costs of construction, fuel and capital would not be exerting quite as much pressure in the near future as they had in the past.

Construction costs may be held down by the federal wage-price guidelines, and fuel costs were moderating at the end of the year. The prime interest rate was down to 5 and  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent, and some utility bonds were selling at near  $7\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. Both of these figures were considerably lower than they were at the beginning of the decade.

The Commission is required by law to assure consumers of adequate, reliable and safe service while at the same time allowing the utilities a reasonable return on their investment in order to maintain their ability to raise capital.

In 14 of the 29 cases decided by the Commission during the fiscal year, the increase requested by the utility was reduced. In one case, the entire amount requested was denied.

In the remaining cases, the amount requested by the utility was allowed by the Commission.

The applications of the utilities in 12 other cases were either withdrawn by the companies or dismissed by the Commission.

At the end of the fiscal year, 10 cases were pending before the Commission. A total of eight cases have been filed since the end of the fiscal year.

As shown in the chart on page 3, the increases allowed electric utilities have not had as great an effect on the consumer as rises in the prices of other items.

While the costs of all items have risen some 22 per cent from 1968 through mid-1971, the increases in the electric utility rates in Missouri were on the order of 5 per cent, and well below the national average of 12 per cent.

The Appendix, which begins on page 11, contains a list of cases of all types during the fiscal year.

As well as handling public utility rate increase cases during the fiscal year, the Commission had before it a number of rate requests from bus, railroad and truck companies.

Five bus companies were allowed to increase their passenger fares by 5 per cent, while no increase was permitted eight other carriers. All lines were allowed to increase the basis for round-trip fares from 180 per cent to 190 per cent of one-way fares.

The carriers' request for increases ranging from 15 to 64 per cent in express rates was reduced to a rise of 10 to 15 per cent.

An increase of 6 per cent in freight rates for railroads in Missouri was approved during the fiscal year, while another increase of 6 per cent and one of 12 to 14 per cent were suspended in part and were pending at the end of the year.

All of the railroad increases were equal to increases on interstate shipments approved earlier by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

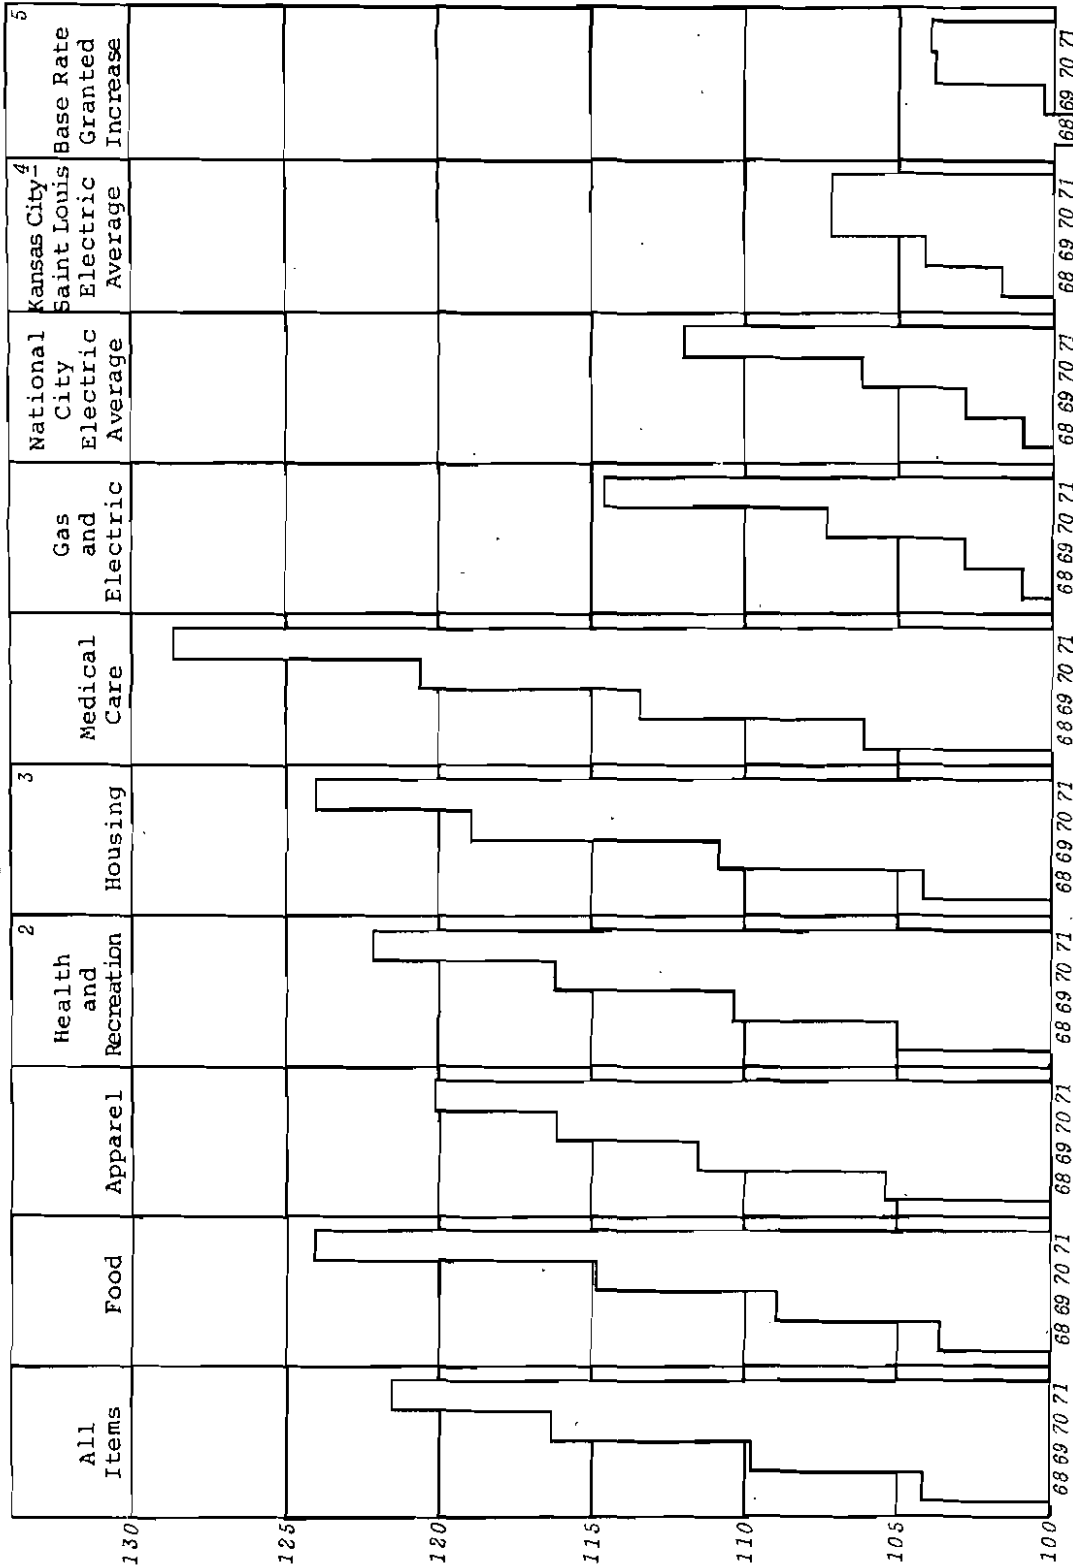

Motor freight carriers were granted increases in rates averaging 16 per cent during the fiscal year. These increases also were the same as interstate raises approved earlier by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Dump truck operators requested an overall increase of 40 per cent in their rates during the fiscal year and an immediate grant of a 20 per cent interim increase pending the outcome of the case.

The PSC allowed an interim raise of about 14 per cent for construction hauling and 5 per cent for other work and later made those figures permanent, denying the 40 per cent rate hike requested by the companies.

 5) Base rate granted index is a weighted index based on production-consumption figures for firms serving in Missouri. The index does not reflect the addition of any local taxes, franchise, sales, etc., which are not incorporated in the company's tariffs. Index based on average consumption of 500 KWH per month, computed on R-1 tariff filed by the firms.

The first phase of the Commission's investigation of the economic and engineering considerations in the burial of electric lines was completed during the fiscal year with the issuance of a General Order covering the undergrounding of lines in new subdivisions.

The statewide regulation was needed to avert conflicts at the county and city level, where some local governments had adopted ordinances requiring undergrounding of all new electric lines.

It established charges for burial of lines and allows for variances in instances where unusual circumstances would necessitate a higher charge. In those cases, the Commission may rule on individual cases. The amount of the one-time charge must be reduced 20 per cent each year, and after five years, no charge can be made.

The General Order applies to all utilities, both investor-owned and cooperatives, but the cooperatives are exempt from the requirements on charges for undergrounding.

The lines affected by the General Order are those from the dwelling to the transformer and from the transformer to the subdivision terminal.

The Commission will take up later the second phase of its study of undergrounding, which will be directed at burial of lines in high-density commercial areas.

The other General Order issued during the fiscal year limited the extent to which utilities could engage in practices for the promotion of their products.

The purpose of the General Order is to prevent the granting of unreasonable preferences to anyone and to stimulate fair and vigorous competition among utilities and others.

The Commission stated that the costs of promotional practices must not be so large as to impose a burden on customers in general and must be recoverable through related sales stimulation within a reasonable period of time.

The new regulations on promotional practices permit utilities to continue to advertise in their own behalf, provide appliances for demonstrations and for educational institutions and engage in the merchandising of appliances.

The two General Orders are representative of the Commission's continuing efforts to ensure that the consumer is provided service at a reasonable cost.

The Public Service Commission during the fiscal year enhanced its role as a leader in the implementation of electronic data processing as a regulatory tool by sponsoring the first annual Regulatory Information Systems Conference.

The purpose of the Conference, which was attended by more than 200 persons from throughout the United States in the fields of regulation, utilities, education and computer science, is to encourage the use of the computer in regulation and to facilitate its adaptation by regulatory agencies.

The Commission will again sponsor the Conference, which will be held from May 31 through June 2, 1972 at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis.

An attendance of more than 400 persons is expected at the next Conference.

The computer has proved invaluable to the Commission by enabling the staff to obtain more current information concerning the companies under PSC regulation.

The Missouri PSC was the first to implement computerized monthly surveillance of utilities, a procedure that provides the Commission and its staff with fresh information on the companies.

In this way, any variance from PSC guidelines can be quickly discovered and the Commission gains a much better analysis of the total utility industry in Missouri.

A dividend of the staff's computer work has been the financial and operating analyses of the various types of regulated companies. These are based on information on companies throughout the nation and provide important data for use in rate cases and surveillance. In addition to their use by the PSC, they are relied upon by commissions in other states and at the Federal level.

The Commission has no computer of its own, but shares the installations in Administrative Services, Mental Health and Highway Department.

In early 1971, the Commission successfully concluded its many years of endeavor to maintain rail passenger service between St. Louis and Kansas City. Despite the continued requirement of the PSC that rail passenger traffic continue, that route was not included in the preliminary plan of the National Rail Passenger System.

But through the efforts of Governor Warren E. Hearnes, Missouri Congressman, other state and city officials and the PSC, the St. Louis-Kansas City link was added to the Amtrak system.

A new method of providing rail freight service to many small communities in Missouri was approved by the Commission for the Missouri Pacific, the St. Louis-San Francisco and the Burlington Northern railroads.

The plan permitted the companies to continue service to towns while eliminating full-time agents for those communities. The towns are served by a mobile agent with whom customers may communicate through toll-free telephone numbers.

The Commission was certified during the fiscal year by the U. S. Department of Transportation as the authority governing intrastate natural gas pipeline safety in Missouri.

The Missouri Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Code was amended during the fiscal year to include criteria for pipeline corrosion control. This code meets all federal requirements and in some areas is more exacting than the U. S. standards.

The DOT certification had been withheld pending the showing by the Missouri PSC that it could obtain penalties against companies found to be in violation of the code.

The Commission continued work during the fiscal year to gather and analyze data to be used in establishing uniform standards of construction, operation and maintenance of electric and telephone companies.

Work is also underway on rules and regulations establishing minimum standards of inspection for railroad tracks, bridges and roadbeds as required by legislation passed by the General Assembly.

The regulation of ambulance companies was discontinued by the Commission in October 1970 because the PSC was of the opinion that economic regulation of such firms was not feasible.

The primary need, the Commission said, is for regulation in regard to the quantity and quality of such service, which could best be provided by the State Health Department, an agency prepared to deal with the issues of hygiene, safety and health.

In the course of the fiscal year, the Commission and its staff a number of times represented the State of Missouri before federal regulatory agencies and at conferences and seminars on several aspects of regulation.

The Commission formally intervened in 14 cases before the Federal Power Commission, three before the Interstate Commerce Commission and one proceeding before the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Chairman Marvin E. Jones, in June 1971, completed a term as president of the Midwest Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, an 11-state organization whose purpose is the furtherance of cooperation among its members and the improvement of regulation within their jurisdictions, as well as on the federal level.

Chairman Jones was appointed to his present office in August 1971 by Governor Warren E. Hearnes following the resignation of Chairman William R. Clark due to ill health. Commissioner Clark remains a member of the Commission.

Commissioners Clark and Charles J. Fain were reappointed to six-year terms by Governor Hearnes in April 1971. Each has served on the Commission since 1965.

Commissioner James F. Mauze<sup>1</sup> of St. Louis was appointed to the Commission by Governor Hearnes on February 1 to succeed Commissioner Howard Elliott, Jr., who resigned to accept appointment to the U. S. Postal Rate Commission.

During the fiscal year, 1,765 cases were filed with the Commission, an increase of 265 over the previous year. The Commission conducted hearings in 819 cases, compared to 580 the year before. A total of 6,394 orders were issued, while in the previous year the total was 5,480.

The Commission brought appeals in six cases and completed nine appeal cases that had been initiated prior to the fiscal year.

Four suits for statutory penalties were filed, two injunctions were sought, a writ of mandamus was requested in one case and a declaratory judgement action was filed in another.

Eight formal opinions for the public, the Commission and staff were issued during the year.

A total of 6,935 tariffs, schedules and contracts were filed with the Commission during the year, compared to 9,463 during the previous fiscal year.

Because of their failure to comply with Commission requirements, 238 motor carriers were ordered to cease operations in Missouri, compared to 572 in the 1969-1970 fiscal year. This decrease is attributed to the increasing willingness on the part of the carriers to abide by PSC regulations.

Field inspectors made contact with 4,107 motor carriers during the year, over 1,000 more than were contacted during the previous year. They performed safety inspections on 2,215 vehicles, an increase of 369 over the year before. Of the vehicles checked for compliance with safety regulations, 14 per cent were ordered out of service until defects were corrected.

Investigations of unlawful operations totaled 398, compared to 446 the year before; again, an indication of more widespread compliance with PSC regulations.

The number of motor carriers suspended because of insurance cancellations was 1,663, compared with 1,291 in the preceding year. Of those suspended, 1,046 were reinstated upon filing of notice of proper insurance.

Utility companies filed 5,030 tariffs with the Commission during the fiscal year, compared to 2,800 in the previous year.

↗ or 1,500 ?

Complaints regarding utility companies totaled 989, up from 771 during the previous year. The increase was largely due to the greater number of rate cases before the Commission. The number of service complaints remained relatively constant.

More than 5,600 letters were written in the disposition of utility complaints, tariffs and information requests, compared to 4,700 in the year before. Telephone calls, conferences and other contacts numbered approximately 6,400, while the total in the previous year was 4,500.

The number of audits and examinations of the financial records of utilities conducted during the fiscal year increased to 49, while a year earlier there were 31. Fifteen of those performed during the fiscal year were major audits.

Field inspections concerning railroad safety totaled 914, up from 525 in the preceding fiscal year. The number of complaints was down, and field investigations of these totaled 96, compared to 128 a year earlier.

Each of the 19 natural gas companies in Missouri was inspected at least twice during the year for compliance with the PSC safety regulations. These continuing checks are being stepped up so that each company will be inspected quarterly.

There were 17 investigations of incidents involving gas companies during the year, and one of these resulted in the citation of the company for violation of regulations. A total of eight investigations of gas safety complaints were conducted.

Inspections and investigations in both transportation and other utility areas are expected to be accelerated during the 1971-1972 fiscal year.

The utilities under Commission jurisdiction issued during the fiscal year capital securities valued at $675,388,807. The Commission examines securities and must approve them and receive an authority fee from the utility before they can be issued. Of those issued, $427,517,500 were for the refunding of outstanding indebtedness, and the remaining $247,871,307 were new capital securities.

In some instances, due to restrictive clauses in the mortgage indebtedness, the Commission placed conditions on the issue to protect the consumers of utility services in Missouri.

The following table shows the types of capital securities issued and their amounts:

Common Stock	$ 62,647,307
Preferred Stock	58,237,500
First Mortgage Bonds	167,050,000
Debentures	335,000,000
Notes	52,454,000
	<hr/>
Total	$ 675,388,807

The Public Service Commission, which is one of the few self-supporting government agencies, receives the funds with which it operates from the companies under its jurisdiction.

Revenues from the assessment of utilities is placed in the Public Service Commission Fund, and receipts from motor carrier license stickers are deposited in the State Highway Department Fund. The General Assembly then appropriates money from these funds to the PSC.

Any balance in the PSC Fund is carried over to the next year, while the remainder in the Highway Fund is absorbed into general highway funds.

Authority fees and miscellaneous fees are credited directly to the State General Revenue Fund.

The utility assessments, which are subject to Commission approval, are allocated on a base of the companies' gross revenues during the prior year.

The assessments against utilities for the 1971-1972 fiscal year were:

Railroad Corporations	$ 99,952.00
Street Railroad Corporations	951.00
Other Common Carriers (Railway Express Company)	1,000.00
Electric, Gas, Water, Sewer, Heating and Telephone Companies	1,246,297.00
Telegraph Corporations	1,800.00
Total	$1,350,000.00

The assessments for the 1970-1971 fiscal year totaled $1,250,343.

Revenues from the sale of motor carrier license stickers totaled $1,101,563 during the fiscal year, an increase of 5.2 per cent over the previous year's total of $1,047,108.

The collections, by month and type of carrier, were:

	TRUCK	BUS	TOTAL
July, 1970	$ 29,547.	$ 1,925.	$ 31,472.
August, 1970	21,319.	1,380.	22,699.

	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$1,046,848.	$54,715.	$1,101,563.

Utility authority fees of $15,608 and miscellaneous fees of $19,487 were collected during the fiscal year. The totals for the previous year were $159,925 and $21,385, respectively. The decrease in authority fees resulted from a court ruling that prohibits the Commission from collecting those fees on securities used to retire short-term indebtedness.

During the fiscal year, the following number of utilities and carriers was under Public Service Commission jurisdiction:

Bus . . . . .	228
Electric . . . . .	13
