

KNOW WHAT'S BELOW BEFORE YOU DIG

Missouri law

1 requires that any person excavating or digging must notify all underground facility owner(s) that may be affected. You can do this by calling the Missouri One Call System, which will notify the facility owner(s) for you.

Contact Missouri One Call at 811

2 or 800-DIG-RITE (344-7483) between 3 and 10 working days before any digging starts, except in case of an emergency.

The Missouri One Call System

3 will notify the facility owner(s) who will determine if the planned dig is near any underground facilities.

The facility owner(s)

4 will mark the site using paint, stakes or flags, according to specific guidelines and color codes.

Do not begin digging

5 until all of the utilities in the area have been located and marked. Even small tasks such as installing a mailbox or planting a tree can damage underground lines.

Carefully avoid digging

6 near any of the flags or marks placed by the facility owner(s). If underground facilities are damaged, you could create a dangerous situation and you may be required to pay for the damage you cause.
