The Honorable Mel Carnahan Governor, State of Missouri Executive Office Jefferson City, Mo. 65101

Dear Governor Carnahan:

Each day, the actions of the Public Service Commission affect every person in Missouri by ensuring that consumers receive adequate amounts of safely delivered, reasonably priced utility services at rates that will provide the companies' shareholders the opportunity to earn a reasonable return on their investment. We continuously review our regulatory policies to ensure that the broad public interest is promoted and protected.

As our annual report indicates, the Commission has had a very busy and productive year. In addition to several state regulatory issues, we also continue to aggressively participate in several federal issues ensuring the interests of Missouri ratepayers are represented.

As required by Section 386.380 RSMo 1986, the Missouri Public Service Commission is pleased to submit its annual report for the fiscal year of July 1, 1993 through June 30, 1994.

Respectfully Submitted,

Missouri Public Service Commission

The Missouri Public Service Commission has the statutory responsibility of ensuring that consumers receive adequate amounts of safely delivered and reasonably priced utility services at rates that will provide the utility companies' shareholders the opportunity to earn a reasonable return on their investment. The Commission must balance a variety of often competing private interests to ensure the overall public interest.

The Commission regulates the rates, practices and operations of the state's 477 investor-owned electric, gas, telephone, water, and sewer utilities. The Commission also regulates the state's 48 rural electric cooperatives and 34 municipally-owned natural gas utilities for operational safety, and the manufacturers and dealers of mobile/modular homes and recreational vehicles. Recent legislation also has expanded the Commission's regulatory oversight to include service territory issues involving rural electric cooperatives and municipallyowned electric utilities. The basic statutory provisions governing the Commission are contained in Chapters 386, 392, 393, 394 and 700 RSMo. The Commission is funded through assessments of those entities the Commission regulates and not from general revenue.

The Commission consists of five commissioners who are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Missouri Senate. The Governor designates one member as the Chairman who serves in that capacity at the pleasure of the Governor. Commissioners are appointed to six year terms. These terms are staggered so no more than two terms expire in any given year. Historically, a majority of the Commission has been of the same political party as the Governor.

The Commission is both quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative. The Commission is responsible for deciding cases brought before it and for the promulgation and enforcement of the administrative rules and regulations it has adopted. Many of the Commission's duties are performed by conducting hearings in contested cases, which by statute must be transcribed by a court reporter. Commission hearings are conducted in a trial-like atmosphere using the same rules of evidence as applicable in the circuit court of the state. The Commission must render decisions in all cases in a timely manner to afford all parties procedural and substantive due process and comply with strict statutory time limits.

The Commission is assisted by a staff of professionals in the field of engineering, management, accounting, law, rate analysis, economics, consumer affairs, information, finance, investigation and administration. Duties range from helping an individual who has a complaint to investigating multi-million dollar utilityproposed rate requests. The Staff participates as a party in cases filed before the Commission. They conduct audits and make recommendations to the Commission. The recommendations made by the PSC Staff, like those filed by other parties in a proceeding, are used by the Commission in reaching a decision in a complaint or rate case. The Commission has established standards for safety and quality of service to which companies must adhere. Routine and special investigations are conducted by the Commission's Staff to ensure companies comply with those standards.

During the 1994 fiscal year, the Missouri Public Service Commission issued over 1,267 orders, closed 463 cases and spent over 238 hours in the hearing room. Utility companies regulated by the PSC filed a total of 380 cases, 783 tariffs and nearly 7,714 tariff sheets during FY'94.

In addition to traditional docketed case activities, the Commission addressed numerous regulatory policy issues. Some of the most significant issues appear below.

The Summer Flood of 1993

In the summer of 1993, Missourians experienced the worst flooding of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers in the state's history.

With severe flooding, utility companies rose to the occasion and worked tirelessly to provide uninterrupted utility service.

The Missouri Public Service Commission worked with various agencies and emergency response groups to provide fast, current and reliable information on the detail and condition of Missouri's utility facilities. In concert with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the State Emergency Management Agency (SEMA), the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers, and others, the Commission provided a valuable link in the information chain to those in need.

Missouri's gas, water, electric and telephone utilities worked to prevent service interruptions, and when those interruptions did occur, worked to quickly restore service. In addition, electric, natural gas and telephone utilities, in cooperation with the PSC and in conformance with utility tariffs, worked with local assistance groups to ease the pain of recovering from the flood by temporarily waiving certain charges and fees until emergency situations had passed.

Flood waters lead to the disruption of natural gas service to parts of Missouri when water levels reached homes and service was discontinued for safety reasons. In addition, pipeline facilities were damaged by flooding of the Missouri River at Hermann and Jefferson City.

Fiscal Year 1994

Temporary pipelines were constructed to restore service. Once river water receded, natural gas crews installed permanent pipelines to replace damaged sections.

Flood damaged mobile homes

At the request of the Missouri PSC Department of Manufactured Housing, the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provided technical assistance in evaluating the damage of the 1993 flood on mobile homes.

Inspectors from the PSC Manufactured Housing Department inspected privately-owned and used mobile homes across the state. In many instances, the certification label was removed from the mobile home due to flood damage. Consumers were reminded that a mobile home without this seal of compliance cannot be sold or offered for rent, lease or sale in Missouri except with a junk title.

The PSC Manufactured Housing Department received several phone calls from consumers who were encountering problems with insurance companies when settling for flood damaged mobile homes.

Telecommunications

The Information Highway

The Missouri Public Service Commission continued to provide a leadership role in the transition to the information highway in Missouri during the 1994 fiscal year.

Local exchange telephone companies provided the PSC with proposed plans for meeting the Commission's network modernization rule issued in 1992.

The network modernization rule is designed to improve the quality of telephone service and give customers a broader range of services, generally promoting economic development and public safety.

This rule requires telephone companies to: (1) upgrade to single party service; (2) make touch tone available to all customers; (3) provide enhanced 911 service capability; (4) make custom-calling features available to all customers; and (5) provide long-distance equal access.

Ten telephone companies have already completed network modernization. In addition, 23 telephone companies including United Telephone Company and GTE Midwest Incorporated have had network modernization plans approved.

Two-way Interactive Learning

The fall semester of 1993 marked an important milestone in education for the State of Missouri. Three clusters of school districts formed the first two-way, interactive TV projects in Missouri.

Two-way television is a telecommunications linkage of school districts over dedicated fiber optic or copper telephone lines. This enables participating schools to share teachers and electronically combine students.

The Education Plus Network, the Western Missouri Educational Technology Consortium and the Missouri Interactive Telecommunications Education Network currently provide twoway interactive learning in 12 school districts.

Small schools are often faced with the inability to offer classes in advanced areas where student demand is very limited and where enrollment may fluctuate dramatically from year to year. For many schools, the benefits of two-way interactive television can be substantial in the opportunities for joint faculty in-service training, meeting unique student needs, providing the capacity to offer multiple sections of needed classes and providing access to college or dual credit courses.

Telemedicine Project in Missouri

The Missouri Public Service Commission, in cooperation with the Missouri Rural Opportunities Council, authorized a task force which will assist in the implementation of a telemedicine project in Missouri. This project will provide a number of different applications in the fields of medicine, public health and education.

Those school clusters in northeast Missouri currently in the two-way interactive learning project, will initially connect with medical facilities in northeast Missouri. At some point in the future, it is anticipated that the project will expand to involve medical facilities in Jefferson City and Columbia.

Southwestern Bell Case Resolved

During the fall of 1994, the Missouri Public Service Commission, the Office of the Public Counsel and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reached an agreement which provides a $1.1 billion capital expenditure commitment by the telephone company to enhance its telecommunications infrastructure in Missouri. In addition, the agreement will give customers approximately $65 million in refunds and reduces telephone rates by approximately $69.5 million a year.

This agreement ends all issues involving a rate reduction for Southwestern Bell as ordered by the PSC in December of 1993. It requires Southwestern Bell to invest approximately $275 million a year in capital expenditures of which at least $35 million will be devoted to such projects as distance learning and telemedicine.

Within the next 18 months, Southwestern Bell will eliminate two and four party service enabling customers to receive up to date modern telecommunications service. This agreement also contains a rate moratorium through December 31, 1998. In addition, prior to December 1, 1997, Southwestern Bell is prohibited from initiating any legislation that would reduce the Commission's jurisdiction over the Company and its earnings.

The Commission issued an order on December 17, 1993, which offered Southwestern Bell a unique alternative regulation plan which would have included revenue to fund a modern fiber optic telecommunications system for its service territory in Missouri.

After review, Southwestern Bell chose not to accept the Commission's Accelerated Modernization Plan (AMP). That plan called for party line elimination by 1995, a fiber optic initiative, rapid modernization compliance, a five year rate freeze, customer profit sharing credits and a profit sharing grid which permitted accelerated modernization.

Southwestern Bell appealed the Commission's December decision to the Courts. The Company sought and received a stay of the Commission's decision.

The September agreement resolved all court issues.

Natural Gas-Electric

Future Natural Gas Planning

During the 1994 fiscal year, the Missouri Public Service Commission established a docket to examine issues relating to future natural gas planning.

In December 1992, the Missouri PSC established final rules which require electric companies in Missouri to develop plans examining the most efficient and cost-effective way to provide electric service in the future. These rules require utilities to evaluate conservation and energy efficiency as an alternative to the construction of additional power supply facilities.

This new docket will consider whether it is appropriate to establish related regulations for local natural gas distribution companies under Section 115 of the Federal Energy Policy Act of 1992 and Section 303 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978.

Mergers

On December 29, 1993, the Missouri Public Service Commission approved an agreement which authorized the sale of the Western Resources, Incorporated (d/b/a Gas Service) gas system in Missouri to Southern Union. Southern Union will operate in Missouri as Missouri Gas Energy.

Earlier in December, the PSC approved the merger of the Greeley Gas Company into the Atmos Energy Corporation. The Commission determined Atmos possesses the expertise to provide appropriate natural gas service to Greeley's customers and the merger was not detrimental to the public interest.

Natural Gas Project Team Report

The Commission's Gas Purchasing/Cost Recovery Project Team released its final report in July of 1994. Staff members participating in the project had been charged with identifying the effects of FERC Order 636 upon Missouri local natural gas distribution companies and related issues facing those companies and the Commission in the future.

The Project Team Report contains 33 recommendations related to issues of Local Natural Gas Distribution Companies' (LDCs) obligation to serve, rate design, transition costs, supply reliability, affiliate transactions, use of price hedging tools, minimum filing requirements and the use of the purchased gas adjustment (PGA) mechanism.

The Commission acknowledged receipt of the report and received comments concerning the issues contained in the report from interested parties in Case No. GO-95-9.

Nuclear Waste Lawsuit

The Missouri Public Service Commission joined state regulators and Attorneys General from 19 other states in a suit filed in June against the United States Department of Energy (DOE) regarding its Nuclear Waste Disposal Program. The lawsuit stems from the increasing need for storage and disposal of used nuclear fuel from the nation's 111 nuclear reactors.

In 1982, Congress passed the Nuclear Waste Policy Act which provides that, in return for payments from ratepayers of nuclear utilities, the Department of Energy will begin to dispose of used nuclear fuel no later than January 31, 1998.

"Despite a clear mandate from Congress, the DOE has refused to acknowledge its obligation for removing and disposing of used nuclear fuel beginning in 1998," said PSC Chairman Allan Mueller. "Ratepayers have met their obligation and its time for the DOE to meet its obligation."

DOE has yet to site a facility for either storage or disposal of nuclear waste. No national central repository for disposal of spent nuclear fuel currently exists in the United States. The earliest date DOE projects it would have an operational facility for used fuel is 2010.

Decommissioning Costs

In June, the Missouri Public Service Commission approved agreements reached in cases regarding the decommissioning cost estimate and funding levels of Union Electric Company's Callaway nuclear power plant and Kansas City Power & Light Company's Wolf Creek nuclear facility.

While the cost of decommissioning the nuclear power plants has increased, Union Electric's and Kansas City Power & Light's current annual accrual for the Missouri jurisdictional amount will not change as a result of these cases. Current electric rates for Union Electric and Kansas City Power & Light customers will not be affected under these agreements.

Union Electric and Kansas City Power & Light filed these cases in compliance with Commission rules and regulations which require a review of the trust fund accruals every three years. These reviews are designed to ensure adequate funding for decommissioning of the nuclear power plants.

Territorial Agreements

During the fiscal year, the Commission decided three cases involving territorial agreements. The PSC approved an agreement between Union Electric Company and the City of Poplar Bluff which allowed the sale of UE facilities to the City and approval of a territorial agreement allowing the City to serve outside of the city limits.

The PSC dismissed an application for a boundary agreement between Grundy Electric Cooperative and North Central Electric Cooperative due to applicants being unable to reach a decision on a boundary line.

The Commission also denied an application filed by Union Electric Company and Laclede Electric Cooperative for a boundary agreement due to conditions contained in the agreement regarding case by case exceptions.

Other Key Issues Cold Weather Rule

Recent changes in the Cold Weather Rule went into effect during the 1994 fiscal year. For the first time during the 1993-94 heating season, utility companies were prohibited from disconnecting heat-related service to customers when temperatures are predicted to fall below 30 degrees. A utility company cannot shut off service on a day when the National Weather Service has issued a local forecast between 6:00 a.m. and 9:00 a.m., for the following 24 hours, predicting the temperature will drop below 30 degrees.

The rule, designed to help customers with heat-related utility bills, begins on November 1 and continues through March 31. This rule has been a part of the Commission's rules and regulations since 1977. Since its inception, the rule has helped nearly one million needy customers maintain heat-related service during the winter.

During the 1993-94 heating season, approximately 163,800 residential customers entered into a Cold Weather payment agreement. Of that number, approximately 90 percent (147,250) maintained service under these agreements.

House Bill 453 Sewer Disconnects

During the 1994 fiscal year, applications were filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission under the authority of House Bill 453. This bill, signed into law by Governor Mel Carnahan, enables a sewer corporation, municipality or sewer district to contract with a water corporation, municipality or public water supply district to terminate water service for nonpayment of a sewer bill.

The Commission, during this fiscal year, approved applications which established agreements between the St. Louis County Water Company and the St. Louis Metropolitan Sewer District and between the City of St. Joseph and the Missouri-American Water Company.

Federal Activity

The Commission continued to aggressively represent the interest of Missouri utility customers in proceedings before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Congress in FY'94. As has been the case in recent years, Congress, federal regulators and the federal courts continue to consider and act on questions which have major consequences for Missouri utility ratepayers.

The Commission continues to closely monitor Congressional activity and works as needed with the Missouri Congressional delegation on significant regulatory topics affecting the state.

The Commission and staff remain active participants in the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) which works to promote state interests in the national arena.

Federal Telecommunications Issues

The telecommunications industry continues to experience the entrance of competition into services and areas previously served by traditional monopoly providers. The cost of providing telecommunications service and public policy goals pertaining to access to telephone service at reasonable rates has heightened the awareness for increased coordination between federal and state regulatory agencies. The Missouri Public Service Commission continues to take an active role in federal dockets that have the potential to affect telecommunications providers and users in the State of Missouri. The federal issues that the Commission and the Policy and Federal Department staff have been involved in include: Universal Service Fund activities; Participation in the Rural Electrification Association (REA) Rulemaking Proceedings; Federal Telecommunications legislation; Joint state/federal affiliate transaction audit: Transport rate restructuring; North American Numbering Plan; Federal depreciation activities; and Federal/State Joint Board activities.

The Policy and Federal Department staff continues to monitor telecommunications events in other states for trends and issues that may arise in Missouri. The staff participates in numerous NARUC activities and has members on various subcommittees. The Federal Telecommunications Department is also active in the Southwestern Region Regulatory Group, which is an association of staff members from the five public utility commissions in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company territory. This group meets periodically to review matters of common interest relating to the regulation of all telecommunications utilities in the region. The staff also is represented in the Federal/State Joint Board in CC Docket 80-286, which meets three times per year at the discretion of the FCC to decide jurisidictional disputes between the interstate and intrastate authority.

Universal Service Fund - Local exchange telephone companies that have outside plant costs which are higher than a presubscribed national average are eligible to receive financial assistance through the Universal Service Fund to assist in offsetting these high costs. The size of the Universal Service Fund in monetary terms has grown steadily since the fund was created to its present size of $700 million nationwide. The FCC has placed the Universal Service Fund under an indexed cap until a comprehensive solution is achieved. In terms of the amount of funds received on a state basis, Missouri is one of the largest recipients of Universal Service Funds. The Missouri Commission recently sponsored a Universal Service Fund workshop for regulatory agencies and the telecommunications industry. The Commission and staff is actively participating in the universal service projects coordinated through the NARUC. The Commission recently filed comments before the FCC and the Federal/State Joint Board in the USF docket. The Commission's Policy & Federal staff is presently assembling data on behalf of the Federal/State Joint Board relating to universal service for analysis of data filed in response to the recently released Joint Board data request pertaining to universal service.

REA Rulemaking Proceedings - In February 1994, the Missouri Public Service Commission filed comments before the Rural Electrification Administration and Rural Telephone Bank, USDA. These comments pertained to loan policies, procedures, and requirements; telecommunications system planning and design criteria; procedures and construction policies and procedures and telecommunications standards and specifications for materials, equipment and construction. The following items are a synthesis of the Missouri Commission comments:

-The REA proposal implies that the published rule is a final rule.

-The interim final rule, in providing for state telecommunications modernization plans developed by REA borrowers, fails to provide due process to non-REA borrower companies and is therefore unenforceable.

-The interim rule implicitly attempts to preempt state law in that it seeks to supersede the Missouri Public Service Commission's authority to rule on the prudence of company expenditures.

-The interim rule exceeds the scope of the statute it purports to interpret.

-The interim rule contains technological requirements that are impracticable and exceeds REA legal authority.

-The cost of compliance with the interim rule by far exceeds the increased costs of capital incurred by borrowing from sources other than the REA and may exceed the amounts companies could borrow from the REA.

The Commission recently filed its State Telecommunications Modernization Plan (STMP) with the Rural Electrification Administration. This filing was made in accordance with the requirements of the REA interim final rule respecting network modernization for REA borrowers. Subsequent to Missouri's filing of its STMP, the REA has reissued its rule and the PSC awaits a decision from the REA as to the sufficiency of the filed STMP. The Commission filed comments respecting the newly released REA rule, released October 27, 1994.

Federal / State Joint Audit - The Missouri Commission was an active participant in the joint state/federal audit of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's affiliate transactions. This project was the result of a NARUC resolution adopted November 13, 1991. The November 1991 NARUC resolution called for the states and FCC to work together to perform audits of the affiliate transactions of the seven Regional Bell Operating Companies (RBOCs). The audit of Southwestern Bell was the only audit where cooperation between the RBOC and full participation of all states in the RBOC region and the FCC was achieved. Cooperation between the state commissions and the FCC was outstanding and the Missouri Commission took the lead to facilitate cooperation between all parties involved in order to see this audit through to a successful culmination. The audit was completed in early 1994 and a final audit report was presented to the Executive Committee of NARUC at the July 1994 NARUC Summer meeting.

Transport Rate Restructure - As a component in the process of introducing competition into the telecommunications environment, the Missouri Commission has used the federal transport rate restructuring actions as a venue to generally explore transport rate restructure and access restructure. The Missouri Public Service Commission instituted a formal investigatory docket in which participants are expected to provide exhaustive information pertaining to alternative approaches and their anticipated effect on Missouri telephone companies. Two rounds of general technical conferences have been held between the Commission staff and industry participants. A report is expected to be filed that identifies broad questions and various issues some participants believe are implicated within each question.

North American Numbering Plan - Comments on various phases of administration of the North American Numbering Plan (CC Docket No. 92-237) were filed in June 1994, with the FCC by the Missouri Commission. The FCC released a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking in this docket which sought comments concerning changes to the administration of the North American Numbering Plan. The Missouri Commission supported the notion that a transition period of at least six years will be sufficient to allow telecommunications companies to change from three-digit to four-digit carrier identification codes without necessitating the premature retirement of existing switching equipment. The Missouri Commission additionally commented that it does not support requiring local exchange carriers to cease screening and completing certain interstate intraLATA 1+ calls.

Federal Natural Gas Activities

The Commission believes its involvement in Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and related judicial proceedings is necessary to ensure that Missouri natural gas consumers receive reliable service at reasonable rates.

FERC's Order No. 636 restructuring initiatives were implemented by interstate pipelines during the summer and fall of 1993. Order No. 636 required pipelines to "unbundle" their services (i.e. separate the selling of the natural gas commodity from the transportation and storage of that commodity). As a practical matter, pipelines are no longer selling natural gas, rather they are now "common carriers", or transporters of natural gas. The 1993-94 winter was the first heating season where LDCs were totally responsible for procuring the gas supplies, pipeline transportation and storage services needed to meet its anticipated demand. The Commission filed numerous comments in the restructuring cases of the major pipelines serving Missouri (i.e. Mississippi River Transmission Corporation [MRT], Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company [PEPL] and Williams Natural Gas Company (WNG]). The Commission is also one of approximately 18 states involved in the combined appeals of Order No. 636 before the United States Court of Appeals.

The Commission has actively participated in various proceedings involving MRT, PEPL, and WNG. The Commission staff continues to analyze and protest various aspects of pipeline transition cost filings when it believes such costs do not follow FERC's guidelines for the pass-through of such dollars to consumers. Testimony on cost of capital issues, selected cost of service items and various tariff provisions have been filed by the Missouri PSC in the pending rate cases of each of these pipelines.

An acceptable settlement was reached in the MRT rate case (Docket No. RP93-4). Although MRT had requested an overall annual increase of approximately $7 million beginning April 1993, the settlement resulted in effectively no increase for Missouri LDC customers. The majority of the rate reductions were driven by a favorable preliminary decision from the cost of capital hearing the Missouri PSC had advocated. The settlement also resolved most issues associated with the pass-through of MRT's gas supply realignment costs.

In Docket No. RP92-166, PEPL requested a general rate increase of approximately $80 million per year, to be effective November 1992. The Missouri PSC participated in the hearing of this case, which took place late May and early June 1994. Parties are awaiting the Administrative Law Judge's decision.

WNG's rate application, Docket No. RP93-109, sought an increase in annual revenues of nearly $50 million. The Missouri PSC was also involved in the hearing of this case during August 1994. Parties are also awaiting a preliminary decision in this docket.

The Commission had previously protested WNG's recovery of approximately $25 million from Missouri ratepayers for ad valorem tax reimbursements claimed by WNG in annual filings since 1989. Since a FERC decision in the WNG cases was linked to the resolution of several cases of other pipelines, the Commission also intervened and filed pleadings in these related cases to elicit a decision from FERC. In December 1993 and May 1994, FERC issued orders in these cases which require producers and pipelines to refund to customers certain Kansas ad valorem tax reimbursements by the end of calendar year 1994. Kansas ad valorem taxes represent roughly half of the $25 million protested by the MoPSC in the WNG dockets. The Commission continues to litigate for the remaining amounts associated with Wyoming and Colorado ad valorem tax reimbursements.

Electric Issues

On March 15, 1994, Kansas City Power & Light Company (KCPL) filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, an open access transmission service tariff providing firm and non-firm transmission service. KCPL also filed with FERC a tariff to permit sales at marketbased rates for: (1) up to 50 MW of system energy; (2) all non-firm energy from the KCPL system; and (3) up to 700 MW from a new generating unit (Iatan II) to be built at the Iatan I site by KCPL and other business interest including one or more of KCPL subsidiaries and one or more subsidiaries of Black & Veatch.

Iatan II is planned to be a baseload, coal-fired 700 MW unit. Construction time is estimated to be six years, and could be operational in 2000, at the earliest. It is intended that Iatan II will be an Exempt Wholesale Generator (EWG). Other Midwest utilities may be offered a share of the plant but KCPL will provide operation and maintenance services to Iatan II.

The Commission intervened at FERC in this case and the staff has actively been engaged in technical conferences and discussions with KCPL regarding this filing. It is anticipated the rate issue will be settled before year's end. No additional announcement has been made regarding the Iatan II venture.

Staff has been actively involved with several utilities and independent power producers regarding construction of a baseload generating unit in southwestern Missouri. Consultants have assisted the staff in analyzing various proposals.

Regional Transmission Groups

The Energy Policy Act of 1992 (EPACT) significantly expanded the FERC's authority to order transmission services, such as the authority, upon application, to order transmitting utilities to provide transmission service to third parties if such action will not unreasonably impair reliability and will be in the public interest. Representatives of the electric utility industry and other groups, late in Congress' consideration of EPACT, presented consensus Regional Transmission Group (RTG) legislation. Under the consensus proposal, if an RTG met certain criteria, it would have been entitled to have its decisions receive some degree of deference from the FERC. Ultimately, the consensus proposal was not included in EPACT. Nonetheless, after EPACT was signed into law, the FERC issued a request for public comments on the RTG consensus proposal.

On July 30, 1993, the FERC issued a Policy Statement Regarding Regional Transmission Groups, encouraging the development of RTGs and providing guidance regarding the basic components that should be included in the RTG agreements filed with FERC. An RTG agreement that in any manner affects or relates to: (1) the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce by a public utility; or (2) rates or charges for such transmission, must be filed with the FERC. The FERC stated that it encourages the formation of RTGs as a means of enabling the market for electric power to operate in a more competitive and efficient way.

Missouri is split between two regional reliability councils. At the present time both the Southwest Power Pool (SPP) and the Mid-America Interconnected Network (MAIN) are in the process of forming RTGs. Union Electric Company is the one electric public utility regulated by the Commission that is a member of MAIN. The electric public utilities on the west side of the State are members of SPP.

FERC has defined "RTG" as "a voluntary organization of transmission owners, transmission users, and other entities interested in coordinating transmission planning, operation and use on a regional (and interregional) basis."

Representatives of the staff have actively been involved in RTG Task Force meetings at both SPP and MAIN to provide comments on by-laws, criteria and other RTG issues. Other state commissions have also been involved in providing joint comments.

It is expected that both power pools will file an RTG plan with FERC during the first six months of 1995.
