Quick Guide to the PSC

The Missouri Public Service Commission regulates investor-owned electric, steam, natural gas, water and sewer companies, and has limited authority over telephone providers in the state. The PSC also regulates manufacturers and retail dealers of manufactured homes and modular units. The PSC is responsible for deciding cases that are brought before it and for enforcing administrative rules under which a utility company must operate. This fact sheet is designed as a tool to assist the news media in covering the PSC.

PSC Commissioners

Five members appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the state Senate, Commissioners serve six-year terms. They decide all cases before the PSC.

PSC Staff

Often referred to as Staff. This is a group of professionals in the fields of engineering, accounting, law, finance, and economics. The Staff is separate from the Commission. Staff is a party in all cases before the Commission. When the Staff makes a recommendation to the Commission, it is NOT an official position of the Commission. The Staff recommendation carries the same weight (no more, no less) as all other testimony filed in a case. The five-member Commission must issue a ruling based on all of the evidence presented.

Office of the Public Counsel

A separate state agency that represents the general public in proceedings before the PSC.

Intervenors

Someone who files to participate in a proceeding before a regulatory commission. Intervenors are usually large business customers, governmental agencies, or representatives of a customer group with a particular interest in the case.

How are Decisions by the PSC Issued?

After examining all of the evidence, the Commission will vote on the matter in an open agenda meeting. The decision is issued through a written report and order. That decision is subject to appeal to the courts by all parties in the case, except PSC Staff.
