Title: MetrixND and MetrixLT Software Site License

Description:

MetrixND allows rapid development of accurate forecast for monthly sales and revenue, long-term energy demand, gas send-out, short-term hourly and sub-hourly loads, market prices, retail load schedules and dynamic load profiles.

MetrixLT is designed specifically for developing load shape forecasts by end use, class of service, system total or other user define segments.

The Public Service Commission intends to acquire the above mentioned software site licenses via a single feasible source procurement through Itron, Inc., since both MetrixND and MetrixLT are licensed and sold exclusively by Itron and there are no other sources available to meet the specific needs of the PSC staff.
